

Disclaimer Agreement

The online version of the 2004 English Edition of the MDOT Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction, including the current errata, is not contract-specific, is general in nature, and is made available for convenience and informational purposes only.

The user hereby acknowledges that the online version is not a part of any contract with MDOT, in no way whatsoever modifies, alters, amends, overrides, or replaces any condition or document of any contract with MDOT, and is not a governing document in any contract with MDOT.

The user further acknowledges that the online version is subject to change and/or revision at any time without notice, that no guarantee exists that the online version has been updated or revised, and that MDOT assumes no responsibility for errors or omissions in the online version.